

Name: _____

Score: _____ / _____

Review Quiz3

Part 1

When box-sizing property of an HTML element is set to border-box, width property represents only the content width of the element.

- ☐ True
- ☐ False

Setting text-align property with center value for a containing element, aligns block elements inside of the containing element.

- ☐ True
- ☐ False

Once the display property for an block element is set to have inline value, it's should not contain other block elements inside of it.

- ☐ True
- ☐ False

In which of the following cases an HTML element leaves it's normal flow? Select all that applies

- ☐ A. When element is floated.
- ☐ B. When element is positioned relative.
- ☐ C. When element is positioned fixed.
- ☐ D. When element is positioned absolute.
- ☐ E. When element is positioned sticky.

How text-align property differs from vertical align?

How are float and clear properties related?